Week of Irregular Movement on the Stock Exchange.

PREPONDERATED SELLING

An Element of Weakness - A Transitional State of Things, the Outcome of Which is not Easy to Foresee. Causes Which Make it Remarkable that the Decline in Stocks and Ronds has not Been Greater-Europe Settling for Food Purchases.

Special Correspondence of Intelligencer. NEW YORK, Feb. 11.-On the stock exchange we have had a week of irregular movement. Upon the whole, sell ing has preponderated; and the sellers have been not only the professional operators, who appear inclined to discount a probability of lower prices, but also the more prudent "outsiders," who show some abatement of their hitherto sanguine feeling. There has been perhaps little forced selling, or realizing under "stop orders," but simply a softening of the late confidence in the maintenance of the extraordinarily high range of values; and this yielding tendency is drawing out quite a consider-able line of "shorts." The large operators appear to have realized on a considerable portion of their holdings, which is undoubtedly an element of weakness, as the ex-holders may be expected to use more or less influence in making a lower range of prices, as a basis of buy-ing for a fresh rise. A transitional state of things is thus introduced, the out-come of which it is not easy to foresee; but it plainly suggests the prudence of operators following a policy of buying and selling for quick turns only. So far, this change in the market has not shown its effects in any very mark-not shown its effects in any very mark-ed change in prices.

Of nineteen stocks quoted, eighteen have declined and the average fall has been 43 points. This certainly is no im-portant decline, considering that prices were at their highest at the earlier date cited and about at their lowest on the later date.

There are causes which make it remarkable that the decline has not been marable that the decline has not been greater. The amount of stocks and bonds that have been sold here on foreign account within the last six or seven weeks is extraordinary. From the best information obtainable from foreign houses making these negotiations, there can be no doubt that, since the list of January, stocks and railroad mortgars have been sent here from Europe which, taken at their market value, aggregate. 560,000,000; besides which some $5,000,000 additional are now on their way home; while the amount exported within the same period has been quite nominal. The wonderis that the pressure of this flood of supply, steady pouring in from external sources, has not produced a greater impression on prices. There may be room for question whether the market has yet digested and assimilated these new supplies, or whether, not having yet done so, some further decline is to be expected. Had the money market been in a different disposition, the effect might have been marked than it has; but with the present plethora of money the banks are not likely to withold any needful funds for carrying these securities until they find a more permanent form of ownership. It can hardly be expected greater. The amount of stocks and funds for carrying these securities until they find a more permanent form of ownership. It can hardly be expected that any important portion of these seuritles will be returned to Europe at present range of prices; there the present range of prices; there is no idea however, among houses directly connected with these realizations, that they are intended to be permanent, but tather that any important drop in prices would bring out considerable buying orders from London and Barlin. ders from London and Berlin.

This reflux of securities does not ap pear to bed ue merely to the conditions of the European money markets, nor to any discrimination against American inments. The fall in prices on the York stock exchange, at the out-the first of the war, caused large pur-es of our stocks by London and in; and the great rise following the e of the war has visible the proof the war has yielded handsome on the operations, which are now This seems to be xplanation of the movement, has not only exhausted the float-ply on the foreign markets, but explanation of the frawn a considerable amount of and bonds out of the hands of lean investors. This movement has afforded a very convenient oppor-tunity for straightening out the large floating indebtedness of Europe to the United States on trade account; and there is evidence. is evidence that the foreign bank ers have used their influence to induce their clients to turn it to necount. These liquidations, however, can hardly have sufficed to fully offset what Europe is owing us on open account; but they have, for the present at least, averted remittances of gold to this country which might have produced a serious stringency in London and the Continental money centres. have used their influer

The long and short of these transactions, however, is that Europe is, after a preity long postponement of payment, settling for its food purchases from us by the remittance of its investments, and it is more fortunate for them than for us that they have been able to do so upon such favorable terms. We have the advantage of buying from our long obligations, but the disadvantage of paying a very high premium on them. It is not easy to see what just occasion European critics can find for discrediting our investments, when, after keeping them a few years, they can realize upon them at such handsome advances. This experience, however, may be expected to bring these lucky people into our martiet again when a new turn in affairs puts down prices at New York.

GRAIN CROP CONDITIONS.

Severe Weather Likely to Cause Damage to Winter Wheat. The Cincinnati "Price Current" summarizes its crop correspondence for the past week as follows: The past week has been one of hard winter conditions, with low records of temperature. The fall of snow has been considerable, but not general in the western winter wheat belt—the eastern portion being more favored in this respect than the western. There is increasing apprehension of damage to the wheat crop, especially concerning late sowings, but it is not yet possible to determine anything definitely as to the influence of the cold weather on the crop. Reviewing the current correspondence it expears that in Ohio the wheat crop has continued in favorable promise; snow covering now general, but in some localities ice was formed on the fields before the snow fell, which is causing apprehension as to results. In Indiana some of the late sown wheat is reported as injured, but the area as a whole maintains the previous good promise. In Illinois there is some complaint of injurious effects of the cold weather and insufficient protection from snow. In lowa the moderate area of winter wheat has been sufficiently protected by snow, and weather conditions have been rather severe on the plant, but the position is not yet an unfavorable one. In Kansas the wheat crop has had some drawbacks, and late-sown fields are regarded as injured in various localities. While the crop mainly appears to be in good condition it is experiencing a trying time, and much of it is passing through a critical period.

Corn is moving slow in Ohio and Indiana, and to a fair extent in Illinois. No special change in indication as to condition of the grain. In Iowa there has been a somewhat more free movement, and the grain improved in condition. Indications suggest that feeders are more fully provided with needful supplies than heretofore. In Missouri the movement of corn is limited other than for local feeding purposes. In Kansas there is indicated a moderate movement only of corn. been considerable, but not general in the western winter wheat belt-the

WANT SIGNAL MEN.

War Department Decides to Recruit the Corps in the Philippines. WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—Owing to teh pressing need for additional signal corps men in the Philippines, and the difficulty of getting reinforcements there from the United States, it has been decided by the war department to strengthen the corps now in the islands by the addition of one company of sixty men, recruited from the volunteers in the forces now stationed there. The company will be recruited from the best men obtainable in the service, and offered by the best non-commissioned officers that the company officers are willing to spare. The new company will be divided into batches of twenty men, who will be distributed among the companies already organized there, making a leaven of 40 old men to each of the new companies.

The work of the corps in the Philinpines, as at Santiago and in Porto Rico, has been invaluable, in spite of the very small force available. Since the renewal of hostilities the men on duty in this corps have been working almost continually day and night. Telegraph and signal men, the war department says, are worth more than generals of division in the present cricis. islands by the addition of one company

The "Canteen" Restored.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10 .- The subwashington, Feb. 10.—The subcommittee of the senate committee on military affairs, having in hand the bill for the reorganization of the army, today placed their labors in the hands of the full committee. A large number of comparatively unimportant amendments were made, the most significant being the following: The house provision abolishing the canteen is stricken out, and the following substituted for It: "That in the canteens established under regulations of the army, no liquors shall be sold except malt liquors and non-intoxicating beverages, and this shall apply to all encampments and forts and all premises used for military purposes by the United States."

CHICAGO—Numerous crop damage reports to-day, light receipts, heavy clearances at the Atlantic coast and higher cables all worked toward establishing better prices in the wheat pit. Shorts were forced to cover and May closed with a gain of 36% c. Corn advanced 46% and oats 36% c. Pork left off with an improvement of 100 12½c; lard 56% c. and ribs ½c.

Light receipts and continued cold weather gave wheat a strong start. May opened ½c higher at 750% c, and as Liverpool quoting %d advance, notwithstanding yesterday's decline on this side was an unpleasant surprise for traders who went home short last night, the price was bid up quickly to 75% c. Chicago receipts were 77 cars, of which only five graded were contract. Minneapolis and Duluth received 311 cars, compared with 607 cars a week ago. The aggregate number of bushels received at western primary markets showed a marked falling off, amounting to only 464,000 bushels. Atlantic port clearances on the other hand were large, equalling $15,000 bushels, and Bradstreets reported $5,85,000 bushels, from both coasts for the week. Crop damage reports were numerous and this tended to keep the feeling nervous, especially reports were numerous and this tended to keep the feeling nervous, especially

Corn was very strong and did much to sustain wheat in times of depression. The increased amount of corn that must necessarily be consumed on ac-count of the severe cold was a strength-ening influence. Considerable long commission houses. Under such buying the market broadened and confidence in
